HIGH DOCKING — A replica of a 16th-century pirate ship is hoisted by crane Friday during docking on a concrete foundation in a lagoon on Six Flags Over Texas' Skull Island. The ship was launched from Bill Reed Decoration, Inc., in Dallas, where it was constructed. It sailed along the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike with the aid of a flatbed trailer. The ship will be the stage for a new puppet show at the theme park, called "Captain Lafcet's Flagship Follies." The park opens March 12 for its 17th season.
